SPORT NOTES

MARKED IMPROVEMENT BY OTHER TEAMS NECESSARY TO OUST THEM

Philadelphia—Connie Mack is going to stand pat on his 1929 world champions for the coming season, but has correlated a number of youngsters who will be kept on hand in case the veterans develop too much senility. It was a team that was good enough to win the American League pennant and world series and it may stand through this year to another similar triumph, provided Cleveland or some other upstart does not upset the dope bag.

If there was any team in the league that promised to show marked improvement, the Athletics could not be figured as a regular for they do not make up a team. They are too many question marks on an aging pitching staff to make it an undesirable outfit. The Yankees and Cardinals are perennial enough examples of how a team can crumble when its pitching staff disintegrates, and it is estimated within the realm of possibility for the Macks to fall in a similar manner.

On the slumpers of Grove, Earnshaw and Walberg must fall the brunt of the work. Grove stands out. Walberg shows as much stuff but has his wildness, which is his terrible weakness. Earnshaw is more consistent. Quinn, Egan and Bonnell are beginning to crack and it is questionable whether they can bring the old gang back around another year. Ditt Shores and Bill Breckinridge, other holdovers are only fair pitchers. Added strength, if there is any, must come from Mahaffey, iron man of the Pacific Coast; Snider from Portland; McGraw, who had a big year with Omaha; Liebert, Jones and McMahon, new rookies, with Mahaffey the most likely to stick.

It will be Fox at first, Dillion at second, Boley at short and Dykes at third, probably the first time Connie Mack has started out with a settled infield, but it may not stay that way. Boley's eyes are bad and Dykes seems to sink off when in one position too long. Fox might move to third, which would give Jim Keeney of Portland, and said to be a fine looking prospect, a chance at first. Donald McNeil, a likely short stop candidate from the Sally and Edwell Williams, from Little Rock, are counted on for the near future. It is hardly likely that any of these will make the grade at short. The outfield is certain to be Simmons, Haas and Miller, Sumner and Orrell, a pair of all-arounders will be the reserves, with the two truck horses, LeBouveau and Cochrane, on hand, having little to recommend them other than hitting and Tom Oliver, up from Little Rock.

Mickey Cochrane, of course, will do the bulk of the catching, but Wally Schang, obtained from St. Louis, will be used for first when with Ralph Portkin still able to do it in if necessary. It is doubtful that any, just out of college, will stick. Here is a good hitting, fast fielding team, with one outstanding pitcher and the rest of the team staff more or less uncertain. If it travels the same pace as last year, it should win another pennant, as there is nothing on the horizon that promises to better it. But should it falter, as the Athletics have been known to do, it will be just too bad Mack didn't retire at the height of its glory. Yet the team must be considered the favorite to win the pennant.

CANADIAN R. O. P. EGGS SHIPPED TO MINNESOTA

Vancouver, British Columbia—The R. O. P. Co-operative Poultry Breeders Association of B. C. has received an order from Maplewood Poultry Farm of Barnham, Minnesota, for 10,000 eggs from pedigreed white Leghorns with off-laid records of from 235 to 249 eggs. These eggs will be bought at an average price of 26 cents each, and if they prove satisfactory a repeat order will likely follow.

MAY STAGE FIGHT BETWEEN DEMPSEY AND BIG ITALIAN

St. Louis, Mo. March 11. Mike Malloy, boxing promoter, has announced that he was "prepared to offer $100,000 for a new world title fight" between Jack Dempsey and Primo Carnera, provided the Italian champion declines to fight the Chuck Wiggins bout, here Monday.

Malloy says "I consider Carnera outstanding in the present field of heavyweights." Malloy said, "and having knocked out Wiggins, in my estimation, he has proved himself entitled to a bout with Dempsey."

LAST ROUNDS

Last rounds of famous bouts. The tenth round of the second bout, held Jim Jeffries and Jim Corbett, both August 14th, 1902.

Round 10—Jeffries, almost straight up and coming after his man without hesitation, Corbett seemed to be making a waiting fight. They exchanged blows for the first and Jeffries made a vicious effort. Jeffries sent a left hook to the stomach and Corbett went down for the second time. He got up and he served a left in the stomach and a right on the jaw. He went down, and after the count of seven Tommy Ryan threw up the sponge. Corbett was suffering pain and a chair was brought for him. After a minute's rest he recovered, got up and shook hands with Jeffries.

A TREAT ALL AROUND. Pitching is always a technical business. Often the substitute sent up to bat in an emergency goes to the plate with his head in a whirl from the instructions he is given. That was the case with Alvin Karpis, although it was not his real name was sent in to hit the last inning of a very serious contest in a very badly set. Blanton being of foreign extraction, his manager necessarily thought him very dumb. So as the dark-skinned rookie left the bench bound for the plate, the manager whispered, "That guy don't know a rattled now, so take one, let me let one go by." Sent for Blanton, maddened and trampled along.

At the plate, the owner stopped to start his hands. As he did so, the crowd ran down from first base, fanned over and whispered, "Take one, Blanton. This guy's ready to pull the anchor for the big search." Blanton nodded.

Then he stepped into the batter's box, took three straight strikes and the game was over. He hadn't offered at a ball. As the players left the field, the manager and the coach descended on the pinch-hit.

"You blankety-blank, spoggy!"

Howled the manager in a beautiful rage. "Whaddya mean, standin' up here and lettin' three go by? Are you crazy? What's the story? Whaddya mean?"

The coach barked the same with variations. "Senior Blanton, what's his name? Castilian dinkin'. What I mean?"

He said, "You mean, he says 'Take one, I take that. You tell me, Take one, I take it."

"Then," wound up the pit of the fanlies, scowling scantly, "I take one for myself."

FOX SHIPMENTS INCREASED LAST YEAR

Charlestown, Prince Edward Island—Live foxes shipped by express from Prince Edward Island to foreign countries during 1929 show a considerable increase over the preceding year, 2,558 animals making the total for the year as compared with 207 shipped in 1928.

Germany was the largest importer taking 159 animals; Norway had 285; United States 278; Sweden 68; England 142 and Russia 131.

While France, Holland, Finland, Belgium, Scotland, Czechoslovakia and Labrador also imported live foxes. Other provinces of Canada shipped 2,731, Quebec rather 2,240.

"Ain't," replied Cohen reproachfully "you and I for many years, have been friends and yet you go to the bank when you need money. Ain't you just go along to the bank and say that they should sign the note, and then Cohen will lend you the money?"

An Irish scholar was trying his hand at selling iron window shades and in recommending them to the builders he said:

"These shades will let for ever and afterward, if you have to tell later use for them you can sell them for old iron."

"Then take it away, you idiot," retorted the manager. "And fetch him some of this."

It was to be married and went to Bill Tierney his tailor to be measured for his wedding outfit. When the agency was over the tailor coughed apologetically.

ARDENODE

Mr. Wm. Klump was a visitor in the Ardenode district for a few days.

Mr. P. H. Dobbin spent the week in Calgary visiting his friends.

Mr. E. E. Chandler is spending a few days in Calgary.

Mr. John Vergein was very nearly burned while lighting the fire on Friday morning. He incautiously poured some gasoline mixed with coal oil in the stove, which immediately exploded. The flames caught his clothing, burning his body badly. Mrs. John Vergein and baby escaped unhurt. The house and contents were burnt to the ground. Mr. Wilfred Cain rushed Mr. Vergein to the General Hospital, where he is resting as well as can be expected. We all wish him a safe recovery.

Mr. Sandorfi Slesowaker was a visitor to Calgary this week.

Mr. Edwards brought his Holstein cattle from Chumy this week. Some very fine animals were noticed among the herd.

There are lots of crows flying over these days. Robby the hour chirping and the meadow lark is here. All we need is the well as the frogs, then we are sure "Spring has come!"

NAMAKA

Mr. Spurgeon has been named to the Deland district and is leaving this week for his new home. Mr. Spurgeon and family have resided in this district for 19 years and the best wishes of their many friends go with them in their departure. A farewell was given them in the L. O. P. Hall on Monday evening and they were presented with a beautiful Silver Tea Pot from the community. Mr. H. Wootter made the presentation to which Mr. Spurgeon responded suitably. Mr. Eby will take up his residence in the home vacated by Mr. Spurgeon.

The Ladies Aid will meet at the home of Mrs. Baker on Thursday, April 10.

We are glad to meet Robert Anderson next after his recent illness.

Miss Phyllis Laurie of Hahrie is the guest of Mrs. Bob Thomson for a week.

John Lawrie of Stacey arrived on Monday from Stacey with his family and will remain on his home until his departure has been completed.

SHALL WE HAVE DOMINION ELECTION SOON

To be or not to be. That is the question uppermost in the minds of members of the Federal Parliament at the present moment. The general belief, and it seems to be well founded—is that the government is preparing to take the plunge, and that before the first of the month the Dominion election, whatever the outcome, will be a thing of the past. The even Liberal members seem to give little more regarding it than the man on the street.

However, the signs all point to dissolution. There is much more than usual activity in the ranks of all parties—request caucuses, many bills and resolutions, that directly would not be heard of under such jockeying for position, while at all times the barometer points to stormy. It is hinted in some quarters that the budget of the new finance minister, Hon. C. A. Manning, may provide, the Prime Minister, with a pretext for an appeal to the country. It will not be brought down until after the Easter recess—which, by the way, is to be of 11 days duration, and will give members ample time to study the budget and to voice their opinions—and if it should meet with serious opposition it is believed by some not far removed from the confidence of the government that Sir Wilfrid Laurier did in the historic session of 1911, Mr. King may send the members home to fight it out on the hustings. Such a development would not be surprising.

It is a fact that the rank and file of the Liberal members are not enthusiastic about an appeal to the people. Last year's poor crop, the precarious position of the wheat pool, the stock market crash and the disturbing element which have followed among the brokerage houses, involving financial ruin for many investors and heavy losses to thousands of others, make a poor setting for the usual election "whoopie." It is true the government cannot be held responsible for these conditions, but the mood of the people is a mighty factor in election time, and must be reckoned with. There have been only two five-year terms of parliament since Confederation and in both instances the government at the present moment is in the polls, so that to follow such a precedent rather than appeal the year would not seem very attractive, and conditions of the country from now might not be better, and might be worse, than they are at present. Besides, the budget and the developments as the season progresses may bring cheer to the government, inspiring and to the country and make the outcome much more inviting.

CANADIAN LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY OUTSTANDING SUCCESS

The Financial Post says: "When President T. H. Maclellan of the Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada, at the annual meeting of this company, voiced the opinion that 'the realities of the present are far in advance of what we are even imagining possible a few years ago and the outlook now is brighter than ever, the company's success in the history of economic Canada as well as the story of its own company."

Maclellan, who is a Canadian achievement in which most business men of this country take their pride, said that the Canadian company, like the C. P. R. has been the mainstay of the nation in the world. It writes insurance in many British and foreign countries as well as in Canada. The company is a member of the Union in all of these countries. It is well and favorably known locally a committee of twenty-five Canadians representing ten of the leading States completed an exhaustive examination into the company's affairs. They paid high tribute to the company's strength and fair dealing and found its surplus to be more than a million dollars in excess of the company's figure.

In going into foreign fields and into other parts of the British Empire, the company—along with those other Canadian companies that have branched out beyond the confines of Canada—has built up a large, expert business for Canada just as valuable to us as the export of merchandise.

The company is now much the largest Canadian life insurance company and ranks high among world companies in size. It is growing rapidly and last year showed an increase in Canadian business of 25 per cent which compares with the average for all companies of seven per cent. The company's total business throughout the world increased 48 per cent.

In life insurance, where protection is the dominant note, the company's outlook is even more important than size. G. D. Finlayson, superintendent of Canadian operations, Canada, publicly declared about a year ago his confidence in the company's financial strength. The Sun Life and, recently confirmed his opinion.

Last year was a difficult year for every type of investment. The Sun Life having intended H. Wagon to the continent by investing in a considerable extent in common stocks, was naturally the subject of much speculative discussion during the dark days of the worst liquidation in the history of the world. Now the truth is out. At the very bottom of the stock market depression securities owned by the Sun Life were worth $32,000,000 more than the value at which they were carried in the company's books. Today they are worth $10,000,000 more. This cushion is as large as a year ago when prices were at their peak. This seems an effective enough comment on the company's investment policy.

Canadians are learning to take pride in the economic achievements of the country's leading enterprises. Our railways, our banks, many of our industrial companies are institutions to boast of. They become day by day more in the nature of national than private concerns. This applies with equal force to the globe-straddling but Canadian-owned Sun Life.

CARNEREA WILL FIGHT IN NEW YORK JUNE 1TH
New York. — Jess Mc Mahon, who will promote boxing bouts at Ebbetts Field, Brooklyn, this summer, states that Primo Carnerera will appear in the first show on Wednesday, June 4.

McMahon plans to put Carnerera on against George Godfrey if he can get the permission of the New York state athletic commission. The announcement says, "Carnerera will be given a set-up. If he does not meet Godfrey, either Jim Maloney or E. O. Christner will be his opponent."

NEW SWINDLE

While successful swindlers have been practiced in a winning way for many years, the one staged recently, in which some fifteen or twenty builders, carpenters, bricklayers and plumbers were "taken" for more than $500 is believed to be the most unique of all.

A dapper little gentleman, claiming to represent a big business man from the west, arrived in the city. He was an architect, he said, and his boss was going to erect a fine apartment hotel. He got in touch with numerous business firms, and surrounded himself with plasterers, carpenters, bricklayers and other tradesmen.

These men became interested. They were given contracts. They liked the dapper little gentleman and by the construction of the new building he won their confidence.

And then he made, his brilliant suggestion. The "Big Boss" was due to reach the city the following day. He was bringing his favorite daughter with him. Why not buy her a present?

"Splendid idea," said the tradesmen.

"Nobody donate more than $25, building," said the tradesmen, little gentleman, as he rolled in the cash. One firm disobeyed and donated $100.

"And what shall we buy her," the tradesmen asked.

"A diamond ring," suggested the dapper little gentleman.

"And you shall choose it," the tradesmen chorused. "We take the money."

The dapper little gentleman was flustered. He thanked them for their confidence. He took the roll consisting of more than $500 and disappeared. He has not been seen since. Neither has the big business man from the west.

The tradesmen are not going to be the victims of another such swindle. They are "watching their pennies" in silence. They will be more careful next time. Perhaps.

CANADIAN LEGION

Ottawa, Ont., The Canadian Legion, in its legislative programme, it is placing before parliament requests the revival of what the Legion regards as discriminatory provisions of the Pension Act.

The Legion asks that the provisions of the Pension Act be amended so that no pension can be awarded in respect to the death of an ex-serviceman unless the application has been made within three years from the time of his death or within three years from the date of which the applicant has fallen in to a dependent condition. Since the amendments are being introduced, the Legion asks that the application be limited on applications for pensions by war veterans, the Legion asks that the same restrictions be applied to widows and dependents, and that this three year time limit also be removed.

This time limit Legion appeals to believe, penalizes those who have subsisted on a partial livelihood and have made no application for either, through the ignorance of or on account of a desire to remain independent. The attitude of the Legion is that if a pension claim is established on every ground, it might not be reduced on account of the time of which application has been made.

If this request is granted, it will also mean the removal of another time limit for widows' pensions that contained in section 22 of the present act, which provides that widows' pensions shall only be paid if the pensioner dies within 10 years from the date of his discharge or retirement from the force, or from the date of commencing or pension, this brings these sections of the act into conformity with those providing for a time limit on first applications for disability pensions.

She was the kind of woman who could be relied upon to say the wrong thing wherever she was. At a recent dinner she turned to her neighbor and said:

"Doctor, can you tell me who that horrible-looking man is over there?"

"I can," replied the medical man. "That is my brother."

There was an awkward pause while the woman racked her brains for something to say. The doctor was enjoying her discomfort.

"Oh, I beg your pardon," she stammered, blushing. "How silly of me not to have seen the resemblance."

"I am a woman of few words myself. If I shake my head, that means, 'I bet I won't with my finger, that woman, come'."

"Suits me, mum," replied the girl. "In a woman of few words myself. If I shake my head, that means I ain't comin'."

"An old lady was making a trip in the aerial railway, and she kept asking an official questions until his patience was exhausted. When about 2,000 feet she asked:

"Suppose that the cable broke; what would happen?"

"Oh, bery, is a safety device," was the reply.

"But supposing the safety device broke; what then?"

"Well, that depends on what kind of life you have been leading," said the exasperated official.

The learned counsel glared at the witness.

"Are you positive, sir," he demanded, "that the prisoner is the man who stole your car?"

"Well," answered the witness, "I was until you cross-examined me, now I'm not sure whether I ever had a car at all."
